

From: Tabby Stone
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/21/02 11:40am
Subject: Microsoft Antitrust Settlement

I don't think the settlement is any significant punishment at all.

I think that Microsoft should have to be made to pay CASH as a penalty.

But, I also feel that I as a consumer have been screwed by Microsoft and I get nothing out of it. I think they should be forced to give free upgrades to all Microsoft software until it works as advertised without any bugs for at least 2 versions. That would be a significant penalty because it would force them to lose the revenue stream from upgrades which basically fix problems the consumer has been saddled with and makes the consumer pay extra to "improve" a product the consumer paid for once, which was flawed to begin with.

Sincerely,
Tabby Stone
stonetab@hotmail.com

---

Send and receive Hotmail on your mobile device: <http://mobile.msn.com>

CC: microsoftsettlement@alexbrubaker.com@inetgw